

Please do not recognize this exception. The residents of Indiana have been clear in the request to end solicitation, whether from existing relationships or not. There are other avenues, such as the internet, by which we may receive the same information.